

NICOLA PIMPINELLI

Born in Florence (Italy), may 24, 1957. Married with 2 daughters.

High school diploma in 1976. M.D. in 1983. Specialisation in Dermatology and Venereology in 1989. Ph.D. in Experimental Dermatology in 1989. Assistant Professor of Dermatology in the Dept. Dermatological Sciences of the University of Florence Med. School 1990-2001. Associate Professor in the University of Florence Medical School, Dept. Surgery and Translational Medicine, from October 01, 2001 to date.

Director of 1st (ad interim) and 2nd Dermatology Units, Tuscany Center District, Florence, Italy (Hospital P. Palagi – Viale Michelangiolo 41, 50125 Florence, Italy).

His scientific activity mainly focuses on dermatoncology (cutaneous lymphomas, melanoma, NMSC), physical therapy of skin diseases, immunodermatology, and clinical dermatology. Author of 165 full papers in peer reviewed, indexed journals.

Member of several national and international scientific societies, with office in: Italian Society of Dermatology (SIDeMaST) – member of the executive board 2012-2016, secretary 2014-2016); Society for Cutaneous Ultrastructure Research (SCUR) (member of the executive board 1996-2001, Secretary 1998-2001); International Society for Cutaneous Lymphoma (ISCL) (Member of the executive board 1997-2007: Secretary 1997-2002: President 2002-2005; Past-President 2005-2007); Italian Group for Cutaneous Lymphomas (GILC), founder and member of the scientific committee; Italian Foundation for Lymphoma (FIL) (coordinator of the Cutaneous Lymphoma section 2013-2016).

Assistant Editor of the Giornale Italiano di Dermatologia from 2012. Reviewer of numerous peer-reviewed, indexed journals. Referee for ANVUR (National Agency for the Evaluation of Universities and Research Institutes).