

BIANCA MARIA PIRACCINI

Born: 21-11-1964

Prof. BM Piraccini is Associate Professor in Dermatology at the University of Bologna. She is Head of the Outpatient consultation for Hair and Nail Disorders, Outpatient consultation of Allergology, and the Laboratory of Mycology and Parasitology.

Major research activities:

- Hair biology: clinical and basic aspects
- Nail biology: clinical and basic aspects
- Mycology: direct examination and cultures of biological materials

Memberships:

- European Hair Research Society (EHRS) (Secretary)
- European Nail Society (ENS) (President)
- North American Hair Research Society (NAHRS)
- Società Italiana di Dermatologia e Malattie Sessualmente Trasmesse (SIDeMaST)
- Società Italiana di Tricologia (SITRI)
- Council for Nail Disorders (CND) (Board member)
- American Academy of Dermatology (AAD)
- European Academy of Dermatology and Venereology (EADV)

Editorial boards:

New pages on Therapy

Journal of Clinical and Esthetic Dermatology

Journal of Dermatology and Clinical Research

Skin Appendages Disorders

Journal of the European Academy of Dermatology and Venereology

Reviewer for the Scientific Journals:

Journal American Academy of Dermatology (since 2000)

British Journal of Dermatology (since 2002)

Clinical Experimental Dermatology (since 2003)

Journal of the European Academy of Dermatology and Venereology (since 2005)

Professor Piraccini has held Fostering Courses On Hair and Scalp and on Nail Disorders for Resident for the EADV society in 2010, 2011, 2013, 2014, 2015 and 2016.

She has participated to several clinical trials in GCP.

Dr. Piraccini is Author of 170 Papers published on International and Italian Journals, and of 12 monographies on diseases of the cutaneous appendages.