

24TH WORLD CONGRESS
OF DERMATOLOGY
MILAN 2019

FARHAD HANDJANI

is currently consultant dermatologist and head of the Molecular Dermatology Research Center at Shiraz University of Medical Sciences in Shiraz, Iran. He was the chairman of the department of dermatology at Shiraz University of Medical Sciences for over 7 years. Dr. Handjani has also been trained as a GCP Clinical Monitor by WHO/TDR. He has monitored both vaccine and drug clinical trials in a number of developing countries. One of his main interests is cutaneous leishmaniasis and he has published a number of articles in this field. He has also been a guest speaker/chair at a number of international dermatology congresses both in Iran and across the globe. In addition, he is currently the editor-in-chief of the Middle East Journal of Cancer and the Iranian Journal of Dermatology and an editorial board member of a number of other national and international journals. He is also President of the Eastern Mediterranean Association of Medical Editors (EMAME), a fairly new association that has set out to promote high quality medical journals in that part of the world. Dr. Handjani is also Vice-President of the Iranian Society of Dermatology, Scientific Secretary of the Annual Congress of the Iranian Society of Dermatology, a member of The Iranian Board of Dermatology and a member of the Iranian Commission of Medical Journals affiliated with the Iranian MoH.